SATURDAY, MAY 27, 1916.

Guess G. H. and Frances had better "cut it out."

And soon we'll be hearing about the steam-roller again.

The "Probables" are now holding the reins in Washington.

It's nice for things to get so quiet you can hear a pin drop! Not the rolling kind, though.

With the Waite and "wire tapping" cases little old New York is getting way ahead of Atlanta.

The axiom "it will be a cold day in June" has been forgotten. No one says "when the war is over."

For a long time the operator persisted in putting an "r" to the name Waite. We apologize to the waiters.

Plenty, chicken-on-the-ground meetings, pond parties, etc., etc., are not things to be despised, but we still contend that this Saturday p. m. short-walking makes 'em all fade into insignificance.

Winning and tired of being up all night the Germans are ready to quit, according to one of their leading financiers, who likens the war to a poker game. If the Germans know anything about a "full house" it's a safe bet that the Colonel who will try to effect peace was their teacher.

We've never witnessed a World's Series—a Southern League exhibition being the nearest to high professional game we were ever so fortunate to see—but when you come down to brass tacks the boys of the local mill league are putting up a class of baseball that's hard to beat and plenty good enough for us.

That the postal savings system has been popular and successful is evidenced by the fact which has just gone forth from Washington. Hereafter the maximum for interest-bearing deposits will be $1,000, and an additional deposit not bearing interest may be taken from the same person up to another $1,000. Uncle Sam seems more trustworthy to many people than private banks, and the convenience of his banking hours is something to do with it.

The reason for the postponement of the session with the committee, what has happened, and the result, will be known in a few days.

A SWIMMING POOL

What could be more delightful and more refreshing these hot summer afternoons than a few minutes spent in swimming? With the thermometer climbing to 100 degrees and above, mortal man can dream or imagine of nothing more enticing. He does not have to be a young lad either; there is a natural inclination in the boy's mind to go swimming and in the older man there is fond recollections of the "ole swimmin' hole," down on the creek somewhere, the access to which has been closed by the growth of the city.

Coming down to the plain truth of the matter, Anderson needs a swimming pool and needs one badly. The young people of the city need it. The cause of providing proper amusement and recreation demands it. No exercise is better than swimming and nothing can give more pleasure on a hot day than a dip in the water. Just to see a bunch of youngsters enjoying themselves in the water and splashing about is almost enough to tempt one spending money to build a pool if he had the funds.

Unfortunately Anderson is so located that there is no stream of the proper depth for swimming located in its vicinity. However, there are a few places near the city where pools might be constructed with a comparative small expenditure of money.

There is general sentiment at the present in favor of building a swimming pool somewhere in the city, and someone ought to take up the matter and have it put into execution. Just where it should be located, and the best means to secure it, will have to be worked out.

There is no getting around the question that one is needed and that it ought to be built.

PLACE TO TEACH THRIFT

The schoolhouse is a good place to teach thrift, but the home is still a better place. It is better, both for the reason that it is the parent's rather than the teacher's duty, and for the further one that the parent's counsel is apt to be more impressive on the mind of the child. And there is still another reason in that thrift is one of the moralities of lower order, and the home is the sanctuary best suited for inculcating the moralities.

The suggestion that thrift be taught in the schools is sound, chiefly for the implication that it is in the youthful mind the idea must be planted if it is to take deep root. Thrift, like the vice which is its opposite, is much a matter of habit.

LINE O' DOPE

Weather Forecast—Generally fair Sunday and Monday.

"All the people of the city who are to take part in the two reel motion picture which is to be taken in Anderson are asked to be present at the Anderson on Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock," stated Mr. J. J. Trowbridge yesterday.

Mrs. John A. Pruitt, Miss Nellie Pruitt and Mrs. O. C. Burriss left Friday afternoon for Baltimore to attend the graduation of Sam Orr Pruitt who will next week complete his four years' course in the department of medicine of Maryland university.

Mr. Pruitt has made a splendid record. He is a graduate of Anderson high school, a winner of the scholarship to Washington and Lee, which he relinquished after a year; and a B. A. graduate of Furman university. He has not only done unusually good work in the medical school during his four years, but he has been a popular and interested worker in numbers of movements for school betterment and uplift in Baltimore.

Mr. Pruitt will return to South Carolina with his mother and sisters, and will take the state board examination, going back later to enter a Baltimore hospital for the summer months.

Since there has been so much interest in Anderson in the tragedy in Elberton Ga. last Sunday when Sheriff Hally was shot and killed by Arnold Worley, that the following from the Elberton Star of Friday, will be read with interest:

There are no news developments resulting from the shocking tragedy enacted in the Elberton court house last Sunday about noon when Sheriff Hally lost his life at the hands of City Attorney Arnold Worley. The defendant is in Clarke county jail and refuses to make any statement in connection with the homicide. What has happened and the result, will be known in a few days.

known. The case is unprecedented from many aspects in the history of this judicial circuit. In the first place the family of the dead man live in the county jail where the defendant should be confined and the dead man's son as deputy sheriff would be the guardian of his father's slayer. Then, the defendant's father is judge in the courts in the circuit in which he should be tried. Of course, Judge Worley could not under the law preside at the trial, but he could secure the judge to preside for him in cases in which he is disqualified. And again, the solicitor general of the circuit if a third cousin of the defendant; not only that, but the defendant studied law in the solicitor's office and has occupied the office jointly with him since admission to the bar. Because of these unusual features, many questions, so far as The Star can ascertain, that Worley will be kept in Athens jail until the grand jury of Elbert county shall take action at the regular session next September. No effort will be made to secure a commitment trial.

Mr. E. R. Horton in another column of this paper is offering a very large tract of land in Georgia for sale on a fair basis of exchange with Anderson county land. Mr. Horton stated yesterday that the tract referred to was one of the best in that section of the country.

Many people of this city will today and all the Sundays through the summer take advantage of the low rates over the P. & N. round trip tickets being sold at the regular price of a straight fare with the condition that they are good returning on the date of sale and that no baggage is checked. Chick Springs will be opened June 1 and many people will go there on Sundays throughout the summer.

In speaking of excursion rates yesterday Mr. K. W. Thom, local commercial agent, stated that there would be plenty of cars to handle the crowds and that it was the intention of the authorities to give the proper service. However, he stated that it was impossible to rely on the number of passengers and that a great many times about twice the number of people would be traveling that was expected.

Mr. J. J. Swearingen, state superintendent of education, was a visitor in the city yesterday having come for the purpose of conferring with the board of trustees of the Townville school. The matter in question was satisfactorily adjusted and the work on the new high school building will go ahead.

"There will be an election in Williamston school district No. 20 on June 10 on the question of adding two additional mills on all taxable property, the proceeds to be used for general school purposes," stated Mr. Spears of the county superintendent's office yesterday.

Sheriff Ashley and a few of the other candidates went to the Chiquola mills at Honea Path last night where a campaign meeting was held. This was not a regular meeting and was not attended by all of the candidates.

STATE NEWS

Charleston Dragoons.

Charleston, May 27.—Awaiting the result of the report of Lieut. C. F. Cox, who recently inspected the reorganized troop for the purpose of reporting to the war department on the advisability of mustering them into the volunteer service of the country, the Charleston Light Dragoons are at present in a state of inactivity. The only matter which they are pushing at present is the selection of a stable in which their horses will be quartered if the troop is mustered in. The purchase or erection of a stable at this time is not contemplated, but Trooper James Adger, who is handling the matter with the assistance of other troopers is looking for a suitable stable which the troop might rent.

To Aid War Victims.

Spartanburg, May 27.—Local people will be given a chance to contribute in the founding of a hospital in Paris for the treatment of wounds of the face and jaw. Since the horrible head wounds which are inflicted by modern artillery in the present war in Europe, and knowing of the limited capacity of the hospitals, a number of doctors and other humane people have organized an American national committee for the foundation of a special hospital for their treatment. The southern headquarters of the committee is in Atlanta. Dr. W. W. Chisholm, of Anderson, is chairman of the South Carolina committee. Local subscriptions will be forwarded to state headquarters by Dr. J. T. Montgomery, of this city.

Greenville Invention.

Greenville, May 27.—That Greenville's inventive genius may save millions of dollars to this nation is no idle dream. The test has been made and was entirely successful.

For some time Messrs. E. C. Tesh, G. F. Cammer and A. G. Asturdevin have experimented as to how a new gas might be produced for use of automobiles at a lower cost than the present almost prohibitive cost of gasoline. From time to time it has been reported that kerosene might be convertible for use as a fuel for motor vehicles, but these dreams generally fail to materialize as crude kerosene without lighter adulterations could not be utilized sufficiently to produce a gas.

By mixture of certain proportions of kerosene and gasoline about three of the former to one of the latter, it is found that the fluid obtained which can be converted into successful gas. This has been known for many years, but the process of properly heating the mixture in a safe and economic way is believed to have been for the first time discovered and the test made yesterday morning was entirely successful.

Negroes Kill Man.

Chester, May 27.—Wednesday afternoon Polly Hardin, a negro who lives in the Brooklyn settlement, shot and instantly killed John Johnson, colored, in a restaurant on lower Gadsden street, adjoining the undertaking establishment of E. N. Isom, colored.

The weapon used was a 38 calibre Smith & Wesson pistol. Five shots were fired by the woman, two of which hit Johnson, one entering the left temple while the other entered the left shoulder. After the shooting it is said, the woman dropped the pistol on the floor and walked to a negro house near the jail where she awaited the arrival of the sheriff.

Johnson was a well known negro and until recently had been employed at a lunch stand at the Southern railway passenger station.

"Hands Off in Politics."

Greenville, May 27.—John L. McLaurin, state warehouse commissioner and former United States senator from South Carolina, Mrs. McLaurin and their daughter arrived in Greenville late yesterday afternoon. The trip from Columbia was by automobile and the commissioner said that they encountered no exceedingly rough stretches in the roads.

Commissioner McLaurin said he had come to the Piedmont country in response to invitations to speak on any topics that his audiences desired discussed; though the matter of rural credits and the state warehouse system, he thought, would be his principal themes.

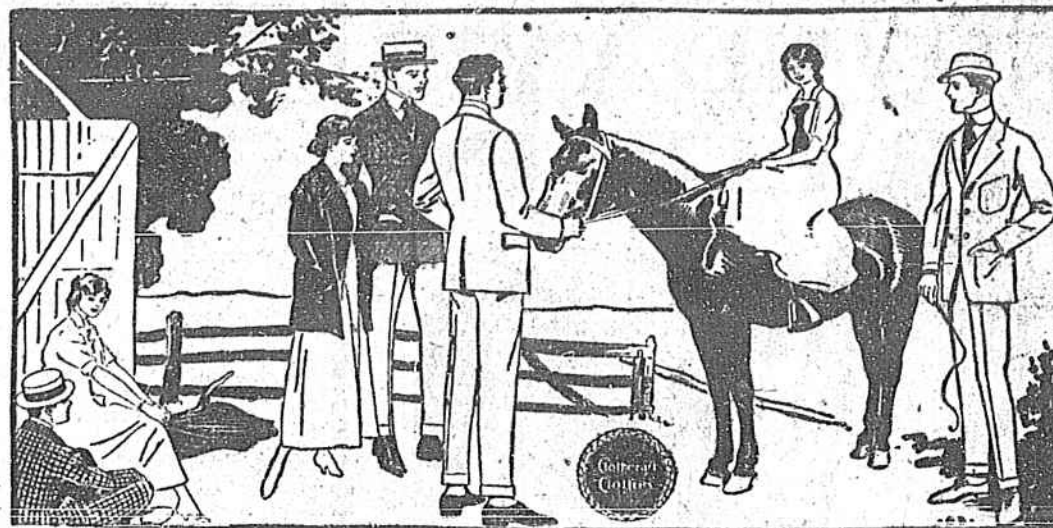

"I am absolutely hands off in politics," said Commissioner McLaurin, "except as the issues affect the system in which I am chiefly concerned."

From Your Side of the Fence

Sometimes a customer says of a store, "Oh, they are talking for their own good."

This is particularly true when a merchant says, "Buy Early!"

But let's consider it from your standpoint. Suppose you want a suit of clothes for warm weather. You have decided to buy Clothcraft because you're satisfied that you can't get any better value or any more service satisfaction at the price—$10 to $25.

You put it off till midsummer. Then, even if you get the suit you wanted, the season is half gone and you lose the benefit of having had the suit the first half of the summer.

Do you see the point? Come in and we'll tell you other reasons.

Hot weather comforts in everything that men and boys wear.
